Dear Sir/ Madam

My name is Rethabile Virginia More. The future speaks nothing but technology. I am an Aspiring Software developer who is currently learning software Development frontend (HTML, CSS, JAVASCRIPT, REACT JS) with Tech4dev fellowship, N6 Business Management graduate, and I have just finished my online self-paced Artificial Intelligence course with the University of Johannesburg. I am highly driven, Passionate about everything that got to do with business technology, Self-growth and community empowerment. I aspire to impact the world in a positive way and bring lifetime solution through technology as the world is constantly evolving and we are already in the 4th industrial revolution. With knowledge of the under-representation of young girls and women being a major factor that affects the ratio of men and women in the technology industry. I strive to be part of those who take part in the technology ecosystem and bridge the gender gap in the tech industry. I strive to equip myself with both the technical skills and soft skills needed and fully active into learning. I strive to serves as an initial touch point for young people more especially in my community who will eventually participate in Africa's technology and ecosystem.

I have proven ability to quickly learn and adapt. I am a hard-working individual seeking a role which will allow me to continue learning and perfecting my skills as I provide high quality work. I seek challenging opportunities where I can fully Use my skills for the success of the organization. Challenges which will help me learn, grow and help your organization improve profitability.

Being selected for the position not only would the company found a loyal employee but a dedicated, hardworking and creative employee who is willing to learn and explore new technologies. I tend to go extra mile when needed for the success of the project/work at hand as long as is in line with both my Morals, Values, Principal and of the business.

Kind regards

Rethabile More
